Research
CONFERENCE

Resilience, innovation

and value through research.

Gadi Country

We meet together on the very beautiful lands of the Gadigal people of the Eora Nation. We recognise and pay respect to the Elders and communities of these lands, past, present and emerging, who for thousands of years have shared and exchanged knowledges across innumerable generations, for the benefit of all. We respect and value the knowledges, culture and traditions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. There is no place in Australia – water, land or air – that has not been known, nurtured and loved by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. The conference will be held during the time Parra'dowee, when heat of summer starts and the weather is stable.

About HSRAANZ

The purpose of the Health Services Research Association of Australia and New Zealand (HSRAANZ) is to facilitate communication across researchers, and between researchers, policymakers and health service providers, to promote education and training in health services research, and to ensure sustainable capacity in health services research in Australia and New Zealand.

Our Conferences are the focal point of the Association's activities, which also includes ongoing workshops, seminars and working behind the scenes to promote health services research to research funding agencies and policymakers.

HSRAANZ members and staff and students of our Partner Members receive a generous discount on their conference registration, plus member benefits and activities throughout the year. Individual, group and student memberships are also available.

For more information visit www.hsraanz.org

Study public health at the University of Sydney

There has never been a more important time to study public health.

Our courses are designed to be flexible, with the option to study full-time or part-time, 100% online, face-to-face or through mixed mode study.

The University of Sydney offers a range of courses in:

- Public Health
- Global Health
- Health Policy
- Biostatistics
- Clinical Epidemiology
- Bioethics
- Indigenous Health Promotion

If you are not quite ready to embark on a full master program, there is also the option to undertake a single unit of study, professional certificate, graduate certificate, or graduate diploma in some areas.

We offer a limited number of Commonwealth Supported Places for most of our public health degrees and there are a range of scholarship opportunities to help fund your studies.

Welcome from the HSR 2022 Organising Committee

I am delighted to be welcoming all delegates to the 12th Health Services Research Conference in Sydney.

The Health Services Research Association of Australia and New Zealand (HSRAANZ) objectives are to encourage and promote the development and conduct of health services research, in order to promote improved health services delivery and improved health. To achieve this, one of the flagship activities of the Association is the biennial Health Services Research (HSR) Conference. The HSR conference continues to grow as an internationally recognised conference showcasing significant, diverse, and impactful health services research content, and this year is no different.

The theme of the conference is 'Resilience, innovation and value through research'. This reflects the many challenges facing health services as we emerge and recover from the pandemic, often with constrained resources. The conference is bringing together a variety of disciplines to share how research can help to build and maintain resilience, innovation and value within health systems.

The program is excellent, with 12 international and local invited speakers, over 200 oral presentations across 40 sessions, and more than 90 posters. We have streams of content specifically for early career researchers and First Nations Researchers, and are committed to consumer engagement within the conference, including dedicated sessions, consumers presenting, and consumer delegates.

After the isolation of the last few years, we are excited to also be offering an extensive social, networking and education program, including the pre-conference workshop, welcome reception, conference dinner, walk and talk lunches, and 'Teach me over breakfast' sessions.

I would like to personally thank our amazing Scientific Committee and Organising Committee for the hard work they have put into the conference over an extended period. Our sincere thanks also to our conference sponsors, without their support this conference would not be possible, including NSW Health, HCF Research Foundation, the University of Sydney, the University of Technology Sydney, the Agency for Clinical Innovation, Bellberry Limited, the Australian Cardiovascular Alliance, the GrantEd Group, the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare, the Biostatistics Collaboration of Australia, and James Cook University. Without their support this conference would not be possible.

Yours sincerely,

INTERNATIONAL INVITED SPEAKERS

We are delighted to announce the following international speakers for the 12th Health Services Research Conference 2022.

Professor Adalsteinn Brown

Adalsteinn (Steini) Brown is the Dean of the Dalla Lana School of Public Health at the University of Toronto. Prior to becoming Dean, Steini was the Director of the Institute of Health Policy, Management and Evaluation and the Dalla Lana Chair of Public Health Policy also at the University. Other past roles include senior leadership roles in policy and strategy within the Ontario Government, founding roles in start-up companies, and extensive work on performance measurement. He received his undergraduate degree in government from Harvard University and his doctorate from the University of Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar.

Professor Stirling Bryan

Stirling Bryan is a health economist with a passion for building and supporting patient-orientated learning health systems. He is the Chief Scientific Officer at Michael Smith Health Research BC, and a professor in UBC's School of Population & Public Health. Before emigrating to Canada in 2008, Stirling held academic positions in the U.K. at St Thomas' Hospital, Brunel University, and the University of Birmingham. He was a Commonwealth Fund Harkness Fellow in 2005/06, spending a year at Stanford University, and in 2020 was elected as a Fellow of the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences.

Professor Trish Greenhalgh

Trish Greenhalgh is Professor of Primary Care Health Sciences and Fellow of Green Templeton College at the University of Oxford. She studied Medical, Social and Political Sciences at Cambridge and Clinical Medicine at Oxford before training first as a diabetologist and later as an academic general practitioner. She has a doctorate in diabetes care and an MBA in Higher Education Management. She leads a programme of research at the interface between the social sciences and medicine working across primary and secondary care.

Dr Sara Kreindler

Sara Kreindler is Manitoba Research Chair in Health System Innovation and Assistant Professor with the Department of Community Health Sciences. Prior to her faculty appointment, she spent eight years as an embedded researcher with the Winnipeg Regional Health Authority, and continues to collaborate with regional and provincial decision-makers to address system-level issues. Her research interests include patient access and flow, primary care renewal, social identity dynamics, and the potential of arts-based methods to translate complex health-policy evidence. A Rhodes Scholar and former Harkness Fellow in Health Care Policy and Practice, Dr. Kreindler holds a doctorate in Social Psychology from Oxford University.

Sara Kreindler has written and directed an online musical, presented as 11 x 5 minute YouTube videos. It is called "Larry Saves the Canadian Healthcare System"

HCF RESEARCH FOUNDATION SUPPORTING HEALTH SERVICES RESEARCH

Uncommon Care means putting people before profit. That's why we established the HCF Research Foundation, to fund research into the delivery of health services in Australia. Since 2000, the foundation has awarded over $26.7m in funding to research projects that focus on new ways to provide accessible, high-quality health care and improve patient outcomes.

Conference Venue

The 12th Health Services Research Conference 2022 will be held at the University of Sydney in Camperdown NSW, at the Abercrombie Business School. The building is located on the lands of the Gadigal People of the Eora Nation.

Encompassing more than 9,100sqm of light-filled, flexible teaching and learning space, the state-of-the-art facility provides a venue for cutting-edge research and interactive learning. The centre-piece of the purpose-built Abercrombie Building is the unique spiral staircase, beginning in the basement and forming a volute as it ascends to the atrium on level 6. This unique building forms a backdrop to fuel conference attendees' imaginations for an innovative future.

The Abercrombie Building has prime position near the University's historic main campus.

Founded in 1850, the University of Sydney is Australia's first university and is regarded as one of the world leading universities. It is one of Australia's six sandstone universities, and its inner-city campus is ranked in the top 10 of the world's most beautiful universities. With 72 hectares of state-of-the-art teaching and learning technology, including six libraries, art galleries, historical museums, perfectly manicured lawns, gardens and numerous faculties, schools, centres, institutes and facilities.

SOCIAL PROGRAM

Time: There will be time to eat lunch first, please meet at 12:15 ready for departure.

The University of Sydney is Australia's oldest University and has a beautiful campus with both old and new architecture and other interesting features. We will take you on a small group walking tour lasting about 35-40 minutes. There will be time to eat lunch first, then meet in the main foyer of the conference venue. We will return to the conference in time for the afternoon sessions.

EARLY CAREER RESEARCHERS – EVENTS AND OPPORTUNITIES

SPEED MENTORING SESSION FOR ECRs

Date: Wednesday 30 November

Location: Lecture Theatre 1060

Time: 12:45 – 14:00

The speed mentoring session is at lunch time on day one of the conference. The session is an opportunity for ECRs to have a series of brief conversations with experienced researchers and policy makers, sparking conversations that can be continued throughout the conference. An impressive list of experienced researchers have agreed to participate covering topics as varied as health economics, health policy, allied health, indigenous health, implementation science and health outcomes.

ECR SOCIAL EVENT: TRIVIA

Date: Wednesday 30 December

Location: Nags Head Pub, 162 St Johns Rd, Glebe

Time: 19:00

ECRs are invited to come together for a casual meal and trivia from 7pm at the Nags Head pub (162 St Johns Rd, Glebe). It is a short walk (approximately 1km) from the conference venue and there will be an opportunity to walk as a group following the welcome drinks. Have a chat, make some friends, and expand your networks. Food and drinks will be available for purchase.

Celebrating the launch of the Research Institute for Innovative Solutions for Well-being and Health (INSIGHT)

INSIGHT

The Faculty of Health at the University of Technology Sydney is thrilled to announce the launch of the Research Institute for Innovative Solutions for Well-being and Health (INSIGHT).

Researchers in INSIGHT will work across disciplinary boundaries, and bring together industry and consumers in collaborative ways to solve complex real-world health problems.

Our researchers focuses on the health and wellbeing of:

- Older people
- People living with dementia, chronic disease and palliative conditions
- Women and children
- Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander people

INSIGHT harnesses the power of technology to provide solutions that support clinical decision making, care management and care delivery.

INSIGHT mobilises researchers to work on the multifaceted health impacts of climate change to build health system resilience and preparedness.

INSIGHT embeds strong methodological foundations for scientific excellence in clinical trials, biostatistics, epidemiology, health economics and qualitative research.

To find out more, visit uts.edu.au/INSIGHT

E-PROCEEDINGS

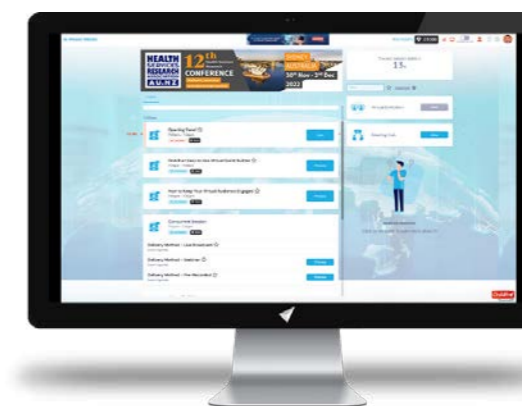

Download your copy of the HSR 2022 E-Proceedings via the conference website.

ON DEMAND PROGRAM

All delegates will have access to our On-Demand Portal, giving access to pre-recorded presentations for up to four months after the conference. The full conference program, including plenary presentations, oral presentations and posters will be displayed in program order.

Other areas to explore include the poster gallery and virtual exhibition.
