WELCOME TO WINTER 2023

EMBRACING CHANGE, CELEBRATING SUCCESS!

Our remarkable Operations Manager, Paula Armstrong, recently led an internal workshop where we collectively re-evaluated our Company Values. It was an important exercise, considering the whirlwind of adaptations, contingencies, and rapid learning in delivering virtual events we've all experienced over the past few years. We were fascinated to discover the transformation of our priorities during this time.

Now we have the opportunity to reaffirm that we are not just talking the talk but walking the walk! Our commitment to authenticity, respect, transparency, integrity, and deep understanding remains unwavering. These values are the cornerstone of our endeavours and crucial to our continued success. Moreover, we hold the expectation that our clients reciprocate these values, fostering a relationship built on mutual respect.

GRATITUDE

We are immensely grateful to our longstanding clients who have recognised and valued the exceptional service we bring to their conference organisation. Many of these clients operate within the vital domains of medicine and energy management - fields of utmost importance. It is a real honour to collaborate with these organisations. Our genuine thanks to these clients for their ongoing trust in our partnership.

HAPPY CLIENTS AND IMPRESSED ATTENDEES MAKE GREAT REFERRALS!

We are delighted to announce that, purely through word-of-mouth referrals, we have created partnerships with several new clients in the agricultural, indigenous, and wellbeing sectors. These exciting collaborations have expanded our horizons, enabling us to explore new avenues for business growth and development.

RACING AGAINST TIME?

This year, we have observed a significant change in conference planning trends. In the past, conference committees typically secured venues and speakers at least 18 months in advance, particularly for international conferences. However, there has been a noticeable increase in clients approaching us with much shorter lead times, often as little as three months. While we comprehend the reasons behind this surge in short lead times, we strongly urge you to plan ahead whenever feasible to effectively bring your envisioned event to life. Fortunately, we still have some availability for 2023 (excluding June and November) and 2024. Please contact us soon to secure your preferred dates!

OUR SERVICES

Our extensive experience and deep understanding of conference management allow us to offer more than just seamless logistical coordination and attention to detail. We have a wealth of Intellectual Property and expertise that goes well beyond these fundamentals. With our comprehensive approach, we can efficiently manage every aspect of your conference, including full financial management and supplier negotiation, ensuring a flawless and exceptional event execution.

YOUR CONFERENCE PARTNERS

At ForumPoint2 Conference Partners we operate in two primary capacities:
