

Building a road safety collaborative community

To successfully deliver on Vision Zero we need to build a community across the groups who work to create a safer and more accessible transport system, where there are opportunities to foster trust, enable collaboration and provide opportunity for social learning, and testing new approaches.

- What does a successful community look like to you – share your successes?
- What are the barriers; what are the enablers to creating a successful collaborative community?
- Next steps to building our road safety community?
