

Resilience of our infrastructure, our work and our people

7 years since my last (and first) CETANZ presentation has brought about a major project, a major pandemic, and a major weather event. My presentation will share some of the work reflective of the resilience our businesses, our people, what we could do better, and the opportunities created.

