

Building collaboration and partnerships

International studies highlight the importance of leadership and inter-agency coordination in the delivery of an effective road safety strategy.

How are we doing?

To successfully deliver on Vision Zero we need to create opportunities to build trust and collaboration across the groups who work to create a safer and more accessible transport system.

- What does successful road safety collaboration look like to you?
- How are you and your organisation collaborating with partners – share your successes?
- What are the barriers; what are the enablers to successful collaboration?
