Abstract title:	Collaborating across a Kāhui Ako: Lessons learned from within school and across school leads
	The focus for our Kāhui Ako over the last twelve months has been wellbeing. With the help of Denise and her team we launched into looking at staff wellbeing for 2019, which has been a real journey. We quickly discovered that not everyone was on the same waka, and those directed to implement it in their schools felt unsure about their ability to deliver what was needed. Over the Twelve months each school has embraced the wellbeing in a wide variety of ways, and the WSTs and wellbeing champions within each school have developed their own plans. Although each school has approached this in a different way we have all been moving in the same direction. Coordinating such a big thing as wellbeing across ten different schools has been a challenging and very enjoyable task and we have learnt a lot along the way, which we hope to be able to share.
