

Cultivating hope in the age of Global Threats

Dr Emma Woodward

---

We are living in unprecedented times and our children are growing up in a world that is constantly changing. Meeting the wellbeing needs of our young people is paramount to ensure that they can make good choices about themselves, others and the planet. In this presentation, touching on technology, climate change, hope and community, Emma explores the factors that have supported young people to take hopeful and powerful action in the face of potentially overwhelming information, and then looks at how we might purposefully embed and teach this proactively as interventions to prepare our young people for their future and make positive change.
