About Associate Professor Peter Dombkins

Peter is an industry leader in legal transformation, legal operations and legal project management (LPM). Peter is a Director with PwC Australia's NewLaw team, as well as an Adjunct Associate Professor specialising in legal operations transformation with the University of NSW's Faculty of Law.

Formerly, Peter was Head of Transformation and LPM at Gilbert + Tobin, where he helped found their award-winning function. Peter is Australia's first CPPD-certified legal project manager by AIPM, and holds formal accreditations with Project Management Institute as well as the UK's Association for Project Management. Peter holds a Bachelor of Laws and Bachelor of Arts from the University of Sydney, and is an inaugural graduate of the world's first Executive Masters degree in Complex Project Management from the Queensland University of Technology. Peter has over 16 years' experience as a transformation leader and senior program director for complex organisational change programs in the legal, infrastructure, defence and humanitarian sectors across Australasia, the Middle East, Sub-Saharan Africa and the UK. Peter is a former major projects/finance lawyer and Manager of Product Development and for a top-100 global law firm, and has advised UN and national bodies on PPP policy. Peter is also a former policy adviser for Commonwealth Shadow Ministers of Foreign Affairs, Defence and Community Services.
