About Nitesh Patel

Nitesh Patel is a Principal at Gilchrist Connell that has been practising for over 14 years. Recognised as an industry leading 5-star Cyber Lawyer by Australasian Lawyers, he has proven and extensive expertise in contentious and non-contentious cyber, technology, privacy and data security matters.

Nitesh helps businesses limit the pain and loss they may suffer from cyber incidents and technology disputes. He has acted in matters of all sizes, from those involving SMEs to disputes arising from high profile incidents involving multinational corporations and listed companies.

He acts as a breach coach for cyber incidents, advises on notification obligations, corresponds with regulators on queries arising from incidents, acts for clients in litigated technology and cyber security disputes and advises clients on how they could improve their privacy, data security and breach response frameworks. He has a particular specialty in defending third party claims against technology providers and professionals generally that arise from cyber incidents.

Nitesh also understands the role of cyber and technology insurance policies. He has provided coverage advice in cyber and technology matters and assisted in drafting cyber and technology insurance policy wordings.
