About David Armsworth-Maw

David Armsworth-Maw is the Founder and Principal at Mudlarks Coaching and Advisory, and the Lead Tutor on the Law Society's Emerging Leaders development and coaching programs.

David is currently undertaking a PhD at the University of Sydney where he is researching how fixed leadership mindsets constrain leaders from effective management of complexity and adaptation. Previously, David has worked in both support and fee-earning roles (Legal Project Management) within major international law firms in the UK and Australia, and a Legal Pricing role at a major UK bank.
