About Alison Hook

Alison Hook is a director and co-founder of Hook Tangaza, a research and advisory firm serving the legal sector globally. Since 2011, Hook Tangaza has been providing strategy, governance, regulatory and business development services to a wide variety of clients ranging from international institutions, governments, regulatory agencies, universities, NGOs and law firms.

Alison is a member of the UK Department of International Trade's Cross-Cutting Services Trade Working Group and immediate past chair of the International Bar Association's Trade in Legal Services Committee. She is also the convenor of the International Conference of Legal Regulators, a member of the Astana International Financial Centre's Advisory Panel on Legal Regulation and an advisory Board Member of Ulster University's Legal Innovation Centre. Prior to setting up Hook Tangaza, she was Director of International at the Law Society of England and Wales and worked for the European Commission and the UK Foreign Office in various trade and economic posts. She is consistently recognised by Doyle's Guide as one of the 'Leading Commercial Litigation and Dispute Resolution Junior Counsel' in Australia. She was recently named 'Lawyer of the Year' in class actions in Sydney by Best Lawyers.
