

why HESTA?

Choose HESTA as your default super fund

We're the industry super fund more than 90,000 employers in Australia's health and community services sector trust with their employees' super.

Strong long-term returns*

We were one of the first super funds to receive SuperRatings[†], an independent super research company, 15 year platinum performance rating – the highest rating possible.* And we keep fees and costs down.

Supporting your sector

HESTA has up to $70m invested in projects that support the health and community services sector. When you partner with us, you're backing projects like Nightingale Housing which aims to improve housing affordability for first home buyers.

Seamless service and admin

We make your super admin and transition to HESTA seamless and easy. Our streamlined system saves you time and our national team of client service managers is always there to help.

Financial wellbeing

We help you tailor your workplace financial wellbeing programs. Your employees will have access to a range of tools to support their financial wellbeing and retirement readiness. This includes super education seminars in your workplace or via online interactive webinars.

Help at no extra cost

As members, your employees can get personalised support and advice on their HESTA super account, at no extra cost. Members can access advice when and where they like. Members also receive regular communications from us, to help them stay on track to achieving their financial goals.

Insurance and support for parents

Members have access to affordable insurance cover that protects them and their families. Eligible members can also get up to a 12-month break from paying insurance fees on parental leave – and stay protected.

Industry super fund

We're the industry super fund dedicated to Australia's health and community services sector.

Sustainability

We use the UN's Sustainable Development Goals to guide how we invest and advocate. As a member of the Climate Action 100+ and Investor Group on Climate Change, we're pushing for companies to improve their operations.
