The Aboriginal Health Conference 2024 will provide an opportunity to come together and learn from each other. Through presentations, panel sessions, case study discussions and workshops we will provide an engaging and informative conference program for delegates.

We are now calling for abstracts for oral presentations and poster presentations under the following streams:

- Chronic disease
- Sexual health
- Culturally safe practice
- Social and emotional wellbeing
- Health across the life course

While these streams are provided for guidance, abstracts may be applicable across multiple streams and all innovative projects, programs, research and initiatives are encouraged to submit.

Abstracts that align to a conference stream are preferred, but not essential.

Please submit one or more abstracts as:

- Oral presentations – 20 minutes
- E-poster presentations - Electronic posters are presented at the Conference for delegates to view at all breaks in the exhibition area.

Preference will be given to presentation and poster abstracts that are action-oriented, strengths-based and solution-focused.

Rural Health West encourages submissions from the indigenous health workforce, students, researchers, and educators.
