

About one-third of a hospital's general waste is plastic

Less than 10% of plastic is recycled.

The Australian healthcare sector's reliance on single-use plastic has never been more visible than in recent years, posing an environmental burden.

Detmold Medical's Patient Bags are a small step towards saving both, the environment and money.

Together, we can reduce single-use plastics.

Taking Care of Those Who Care

Detmold Medical manufacture high-quality Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) for the healthcare sector, leveraging existing expertise, global networks, systems, and knowledge from the Detmold Group.

Our masks were designed in collaboration with Healthcare and Industry Experts, are made in Australia and certified to all relevant Standards.

Detmold Medical is operating its own first-class testing facilities to consistently measure, validate and enhance product performance and ensure continuous improvement.

Onsite testing enables fast-track approvals of new materials or designs ahead of external validation and testing by accredited laboratories.

This evolvement in capability supports our ongoing commitment to providing high quality, easy to wear products.

Today, we are dispatching our Australian made range of masks and respirators to protect people in the healthcare sector throughout Australia.
