

Maria's career journey with MERMEC Group began in 2015, where she initially specialized in international relations, particularly focusing on Japan, a country where she has significant experience having lived there for an extended period. Her contributions were instrumental in the establishment of MERMEC Japan, which now serves as the Asian headquarters for MERMEC Group.

Currently, Maria holds the position of Key-Account Manager, overseeing stakeholders involved in major turnkey development projects within the railway sector across various Asian countries. In addition to her managerial role, she also spearheads training supervision, particularly dedicated to the diagnostic and digitalization aspects of railway infrastructure.

MERMEC Group, established as a joint-stock company in 1988, stands as a global leader and technology innovator in the realm of railways and rapid transits. The company specializes in the design and development of end-to-end diagnostics, signalling, electric traction, telecommunications, and asset management tailored for railways and rapid transits worldwide.
