Sukhumarn Phanachet

Deputy Treasurer
Treasury Department
Asian Development Bank

Sukhumarn Phanachet assumed the role of Deputy Treasurer in September 2020. Her responsibilities are integral to supporting the Treasurer in planning, implementing, and supervising department's goals and strategies to ensure ADB's continued financial strength and steady growth in financial sources in support of ADB's overarching mission.

Prior to her appointment as Deputy Treasurer, she was Assistant Treasurer of the Treasury Services Division, where she oversaw a range of treasury operations activities, including cash management, bonds and derivatives management, transaction banking encompassing settlements and payments, treasury systems management, organizational resilience, and was heavily involved in ADB's digital agenda. Ms. Phanachet has been with ADB since 1998, where she has consistently taken on increasingly significant responsibilities. Her ADB career has encompassed various areas including contributing to financial policy development, financial management for and replenishment of the Asian Development Fund, capital increase implementation, cash management, and serving as Senior Financial Analyst/ Financial Management Specialist in the Southeast Asia Department.

Her career began with auditing in Price Waterhouse before transitioning into corporate banking with Citibank, N.A., and eventually diversifying into fund management that includes establishing private fund management business, managing mutual and private funds, and conducted equity research in leading Thai asset management companies.

Ms. Phanachet obtained a bachelor's degree in accounting (First Class Honors) from Chulalongkorn University, Bangkok, Thailand, an MBA in International Finance from the University of British Columbia, Canada, and is a CFA Charter holder.
