Technology Profile

Eco Concern, an ISO-certified company, developed the Paani Doctor App, a first-of-its-kind mobile-based water quality service in Nepal. The app allows users to get water quality testing at a Nepal Standard-certified laboratory and treatment service directly in one's home, office, or anywhere. The user or customer can have their drinking water tested while receiving reports online, saving the customer from the hassle of visiting water-testing labs, delivering samples, and collecting test results.

Furthermore, this app enables customers to purchase from any of Eco Concern's diverse range of water quality test products (e.g., ENPHO water test kits, P/A vial, ECC vial, Arsenic test kit, FRC test kit, body belt incubators) and water treatment products

(e.g., Piyush, Piyush Plus, Colloidal Silver Candle filters, rainwater filters) and have it delivered right at their doorstep.

This app enables the larger population to check their water supply, its quality, and if treatment is necessary, which is useful especially for offices, schools, hospitals, and many more.

Eco Concern is a government-registered social enterprise specializing in designing and utilizing innovative solutions for safe water, sustainable sanitation, alternative energy, and a healthy environment. This includes water test and treatment products and services for treatment of wastewater and fecal sludge.
