

Cathy Marsh, a British national, is Deputy Director General of the Private Sector Operations Department at Asian Development Bank (ADB) and joined ADB in August 2018. Prior to joining ADB, Cathy spent 25 years in private practice (including as a Partner of the US law firm Milbank from 2004 to 2013), focusing on development and project financing throughout her career.

Cathy completed her BA (Hons) in International Relations and European Studies with French at the University of Sussex, United Kingdom in 1990, and her Common Professional Examination and College of Law Finals from the College of Law in London in 1992 and 1993, respectively.