

Syed Husain Quadri is currently the Director of the Resilience and Climate Action Department at the Islamic Development Bank.

He is leading its engagement in diverse thematic areas of Climate Change, Fragility, Conflict, Disaster Management, CSOs, and Gender and Youth Development in 57 Member Countries. He is chiefly responsible for leading an accomplished team of experts that develop and implement thematic policies, and financing strategies and deliver advisory and capacity development initiatives.

In addition, he is also the Head of the Global Muslim Philanthropy Fund for Children with UNICEF. Quadri also leads the oversight of the Banks COVID response program and is the Deputy Chair for the Banks Operations Technical Committee. He is also a Board Member with the Global Partnership for Education.

Previously, he was the Ag. Director for Country Strategy and Cooperation where he was in charge of Regional Integration, Trade and Investment Promotion, South-South Cooperation, and Country Strategy. He was responsible for managing relationships with the likes of WTO, OIC, GCC, and African Union, as well as coordinating with various UN agencies and MDBs.

Prior to this, Quadri was an independent evaluator, leading the assessment of 43 Public Sector, Private Sector, and Corporate evaluations in 20 countries. He has a Bachelor's from King's College London and a Master's from Imperial College London. Currently, as part of his Executive Education, he is pursuing a Diploma in Development Economics from Harvard