

Max Ulf Jensen

Head of Division, Mobility Department,
Projects Directorate
European Investment Bank

MSc in Civil Engineering with a specialisation in Transport Planning at Polytechnic University of Catalunya (UPC), Spain, and Technical University of Denmark.

BSc Economics & Language, CBS (DK). MBA, EBS (UK).

Max Jensen has worked in a large variety of public sector projects as a transport specialist and project manager at Grontmij & Cowi Consultants (Denmark, 1994-2001) and for the Danish Road Directorate / DANIDA (Denmark & Nicaragua, 2001-2003).

At the EIB (since 2003), Max Jensen was previously heading the Urban Mobility and Railway divisions. Current position is Head of the Regional Transport Division and he now leads a multi-professional team operating in several regions covering technical, ECS, economic and financial assessment of infrastructure projects in the transport sector. The activity of the EIB takes place namely in the European Union but also increasingly in the Western Balkans, Southern and Eastern Neighbours, ACP, Asia and Latin America and as such requires close collaboration with other Multi-Development Banks and bilateral partners. Max Jensen has a particular interest in EU transport policy and programme management concerning implementation and integration of resilience and the green transition in transport infrastructure and mobility projects.
