

Innovative Tax Administration A Strategic Workshop

27-29 March 2023 | Tokyo, Japan

Daniel Alvarez

Senior Public Sector Specialist, Fiscal Policy and Sustainable Growth Unit, World Bank Group

Mr. Alvarez is a Senior Public Sector Specialist on DRM at the World Bank. Since joining the WB in 2009 he has led operations in support of tax reform across countries of different regions. He is currently posted at the South Asia Region. During his tenure he has worked on multiple lending, analytical work, and technical assistance operations on a variety of DRM and public sector topics, including tax policy, revenue administration, digital taxation, and modernization of public sector. He is a member of the Tax Administration Assessment Diagnostic Tool (TADAT) Technical Assistance Group (TAG) and World Bank representative at the VAT Global Forum (OECD), and the Indirect Taxation Subcommittee (UN). Previously to joining the WB, Mr. Alvarez was a lecturer and research assistant on DRM and public investment issues at the international development institutes of the universities of Duke and Harvard. He also held different positions as a revenue official at the Ministry of Finance of Mexico (Tax Policy Unit and Tax Administration Service - SAT) during a 10- year period. He graduated from the Technological Autonomous Institute of Mexico (BS and MPP), and the Harvard Law School/ Kennedy School of Government (International Tax Program). Daniel lives with his family in Washington DC.

