

Adrian Barnes
Head of Green Analytics at Green Investment Group

Mr. Barnes has been with Macquarie's Green Investment Group (GIG) since joining the UK Green Investment Bank in 2013, acquired by Macquarie to form GIG in 2017. GIG is now part of Macquarie Asset Management, the world's largest infrastructure asset manager.

As Head of Green Analytics, he is responsible for the implementation of GIG's robust green assessment, monitoring and reporting approach. In this role I oversee GIG's evaluation of all global green investment activity, whilst also advising across Macquarie Group on transition and impact-aligned investing strategies.

A global leader in green and sustainable finance, he developed GIG's green ratings and impact evaluation approach and have advised third party investors on structuring green investment funds and instruments, and developing and implementing environmental, social & governance (ESG) frameworks. He helps promote a diverse and inclusive workplace in Macquarie, and also contributes to developing the wider sustainable finance sector through various roles in green finance standardization.
