Training - Hands on threat hunting with Splunk, April 13, 2018, 1:00 PM - 5:15 PM

In a busy enterprise it is often hard to put tools down and focus on threat hunting. Even if we do get the time, we are often left pondering 'what do I look for?'

This 3 hour training session will begin by discussing the collection, configuration and analysis of data in enterprise environments. We will then run through a series of practical scenarios using the power of Splunk search, that will increase your threat hunting skills, providing knowledge and techniques that can be applied within enterprise environments.

Participants will be required to bring a laptop with a modern browser and internet connectivity.
