JAMS is proud to sponsor the Shades of Mass Conference and support its efforts to achieve greater racial diversity in mass tort and complex litigation case leadership.

As the world's largest private alternative dispute resolution (ADR) provider and an industry innovator for 40+ years, JAMS has extensive experience handling large, complex disputes, including class actions, mass torts and multi-district litigation (MDL). Our panel of mediators and arbitrators with proficiency in this practice area includes a wide range of diverse neutrals—retired federal and state trial court judges, former litigators and other ADR professionals.

JAMS provides a comprehensive menu of ADR services, including custom resolution and post-settlement processes designed to meet the needs of the parties and the unique requirements of each case. Our experienced case managers and extensive case administration resources make us a leading choice to assist in resolving complicated, high-stakes litigation. Our nationwide network of state-of-the-art Resolution Centers offers flexible hearing spaces, premium technology and concierge-level client service for in-person, hybrid and virtual proceedings.

JAMS is committed to advancing diversity within ADR and in the legal community at large, and we encourage law firms and other organizations to collaborate with us in our efforts. Recruiting and promoting an inclusive panel of ADR professionals continues to be one of our top priorities. Nearly half of the neutrals who have joined us over the past five years are women and/or diverse.
