

Dante Disparte
Chief Strategy Officer & Head of Global Policy, Circle

Dante is Circle's Chief Strategy Officer and Head of Global Policy with responsibility for the company's strategy, communications and policy and public affairs organization.

Prior, Dante served as a founding executive of the Diem Association, leading public policy, communications, membership, and social impact. He brings two decades of experience as an entrepreneur, business leader and global risk expert, most recently as founder and CEO of Risk Cooperative, a strategic risk advisory and insurance brokerage based in Washington, D.C. Dante also serves as an appointee on the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) National Advisory Council and is a member of the World Economic Forum's Digital Currency Governance Consortium.

Dante is a graduate of Harvard Business School and holds an MSc. in Risk Management from the NYU Stern School of Business and a B.A. in International and Intercultural Studies from Goucher College