

Dr. Trace C. Lasley
Professor of Practice, American University

Dr. Trace Lasley is a Professor of Practice at American University. His research focuses on illicit organization behavior including strategy, tactics, recruitment, and funding of terrorists, transnational criminals, and insurgents. His research appears in Conflict Management and Peace Science, Risk Analysis, and Third World Quarterly. He teaches courses on domestic terrorism, transnational crime, and homeland security policy. Dr. Lasley also leads the SPA Professional Development Series that supports students with career planning, resume writing, interviewing, and writing. He created the Homeland Security Communications Lab, an extracurricular workshop building advanced skills for students pursuing careers in the homeland security enterprise. In addition to his teaching appointment, Dr. Lasley is a historian at the Human Rights Violators and War Crimes Center, an interagency unit organized by Homeland Security Investigations with the mission to identify, investigate, and prosecute human rights violators. He received his Ph.D. in political science from the University of Kentucky.