In this workshop, we will share an overview of the history and progress of ICDA's Food Sustainability Initiative, including the member-informed SFS toolkit (icdasustainability.org). Following this, workshop participants will engage in facilitated discussion to identify: opportunities to build on existing tools, ways to collaborate to amplify mutual goals, gaps that remain to facilitate this work, and barriers to full participation. Before closing, we will identify priorities, collaborative opportunities, and barriers requiring attention, which participants can use to inform their own work following the workshop. By the end of this workshop, we hope participants will: Understand what the Food Sustainability Initiative is, Be familiar with the ICDA SFS Toolkit and how they can both contribute to and benefit from it, Have an improved understanding of the opportunities to collaborate with, and those who are working to support sustainability-informed nutrition and dietetic practice
