

How to Publish in an International Nutrition Journal

Presenter Biographies:

Prof Salome Kruger, North-West University (South Africa)

Salome Kruger is a registered dietitian and pharmacist and Professor of Nutrition at the Centre of Excellence for Nutrition, North-West University. As member of consultative groups to the South African Department of Health she had the opportunity to advise on national policy. She is a member of the African Partnership for Chronic Disease Research and the Global Burden of Metabolic Risk Factors of Chronic Diseases Collaborating Group, a worldwide network of public health researchers with a focus on health effects of cardiometabolic risk factors. She was a Deputy Editor of the international scientific journal, Public Health Nutrition (2015-2020). Her current South African National Research Foundation rating is C1. This rating is awarded to scientists who has attained a sound international standing in their field. She is a Member of the Academy of Science of South Africa (ASSAf) and a Fellow of the International Union of Nutritional Sciences (IUNS). She is the author of more than 150 international publications (/www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/?term=Kruger+HS) and received awards for best publications and conference presentations, including the John M Kinney award for the best publication in pediatric nutrition in Nutrition.

Dr Mieke Faber, South Africa Medical Research Council (South Africa)

South African Medical Research Council, Non-Communicable Diseases Research Unit

Prof Sandra Capra, University of Queensland (Australia)

Former President of the International Confederation of Dietetic Associations

Professor Capra is an Emeritus Professor of Nutrition at the University of Queensland, Australia. She has had a distinguished career including 15 years in practice in the health services in Australia and New Zealand followed by more than 30 years in academia. In 2003 she was appointed a Member, Order of Australia, for her contribution to nutrition and dietetics and community health. She is a leader in her field and has led her profession both within Australia and internationally, including being President of the ICDA for 12 years. She was named one of the 100 most influential women in Australia in the "global" category for the year 2014. She has served on the national committees which set the nutrient reference values and the dietary guidelines for Australia and she was a Director of Health Workforce Australia 2010-2014. She was Associate/Deputy Editor of the journal Public Health Nutrition from 2014 to 2021. Her research interests include workforce, systems change, outcomes and efficacy of services, leading to more than 200 works. She is a Fellow of Dietitians Australia, and the Queensland Academy of Arts and Sciences.