

Professor Lauren Rickards

Bio:

Lauren Rickards is Professor in the School of Global, Urban and Social Studies at RMIT University, where she is Director of the Urban Futures Enabling Impact Platform. A geographer with degrees from the Universities of Melbourne and Oxford, Lauren is also Chair of the Research Advisory Council of Regen Melbourne. Her current research is exploring the implications of climate change for public sector organisations, including universities.