

Commercial Relationships and Financial Disclosure

All Presenters MUST disclose any financial interest or other relationship over the previous 2 years with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of any commercial services. In case of uncertainty, it is better to err on full disclosure.

A financial interest is any relationship in which you may benefit by receiving salary, travel benefits, intellectual property rights, royalties, honoraria, stocks, stock options, consulting fees, speaking fees, membership fees, or any other financial benefit. Financial relationships pertain equally to your immediate family (i.e. spouse/partner or dependent child).

A disclosure statement slide will be required at the beginning of your presentation. You must identify and provide a brief description for any of the following categories that apply to your submission.

- Category A Financial support received from commercial interest in the form of research funding, grants, research materials or in-kind services.
- Category B Investor in a company or competing company, other than through a mutual or retirement fund.
- Category C Consultant for a commercial interest.
- Category D Inventor/developer designated on a patent, patent application, copyright, or trade secret, whether or not the patent, copyright, etc. is presently licensed or otherwise commercialised, or could be in competition with the technology described.
- Category E Employee of a company with a commercial interest.
- Category F Received gifts, honoraria, travel reimbursement, patent royalties, or any other financial compensation from a commercial interest.
- Category G Holds a non-remunerative position of influence such as officer, board member, trustee, spokesperson, etc. in a company with a commercial interest.
- Category N No commercial relationship relevant to the subject matter of the abstract/article/presentation.
