

The integration of a culture of research integrity requires a multidisciplinary effort from all members of the university.

Institutional Research Management and Regulations to Strengthen Scientific Research at the Universidad Femenina del Sagrado Corazón, UNIFÉ, Lima, Perú

Dr. Hilda Figueroa-Pozo & Dr. Mariela Dejo-Vásquez.

Effective research management and stringent regulations are crucial for high-quality scientific inquiry. In Peru, there is a growing emphasis on research integrity, reflecting its importance in the academic community.

The goal is to explore the strategies and measures implemented at UNIFÉ to enhance research integrity; furthermore, the objective is to highlight the best practices that demonstrate the commitment to academic excellence and provide a model for other institutions.

The culture of research integrity at UNIFÉ, supported by effective management and comprehensive regulations, is increasingly recognized as an essential element within the entire university community.

The ongoing challenge is to further internalize this culture to ensure good practices and make it visible in the actions and academic productions of the university community.